

HomeAid team to renovate project for vets

HomeAid Houston, a Greater Houston Builders Association (GHBA) charity, is partnering with Ryan Boyles of GB General Contractors Inc. and Lynne Jones of Lynne T. Jones Interior Design, to provide much-needed space design and interior improvements at the United States Veterans Initiative's Mid Town Terraces facility. This U.S. Vets complex provides shelter and services to 300 homeless men each year who have served our country.

U.S. Vets provides comprehensive services to the veterans, including case management, employment assistance, job placement, counseling, as well as drug- and alcohol-free housing. Veterans progress through a seamless continuum of services designed to help them increase their level of responsibility, and prepare them to live independently in the community.

The space improvements for the U.S. Vets Initiative's Mid Town Terraces facility include the day room and the adjoining restroom. Work will begin in mid-October and will include wall repair and painting, renovation of the floor and installation of new tile, replacement of the existing sink, toilet, light fixture, mirror, paper towel and toilet paper dispensers and a complete refurnishing of the common area.
